MEMORY CARE PROGRAM

RENAISSANCE AT THE COMMONS

Caring for a loved one with Alzheimer's disease or related dementia can be one of the most difficult and trying times experienced by any family. The decision to move a loved one into an Alzheimer's care residence is never easy and often families think they are doing the right thing by continuing to care for them at home. Unfortunately, there comes a point when it's not the right option for either the caregiver or the loved one. Clearly, families wrestle with feelings of guilt, fear and grief. You wonder: Will they be well cared for? Will they feel at home? Will they be able to live a life with dignity and respect? You need to experience a new beginning with people who truly care. That's why our state-of-the-art dementia program is named Renaissance at The Commons.

DISCOVER THE DIFFERENCE

We believe one step inside and any concerns about placing a loved one in an “institutional setting” will be dispelled. Residents enjoy many interactive areas, including a comfortable living room with a fireplace, and two dining rooms, each with a cozy homelike kitchen, and other engaging activity spaces. You may detect the aroma of freshly prepared meals or cookies baking, bringing back childhood memories of times gone by...one of many supervised life-enriching activities.

...warm, inviting atmosphere

The interior design of the Renaissance at The Commons creates an inviting, relaxed home-like atmosphere. Wall-to-wall carpeting, nostalgic items like old radios and antique telephones and tactile items safe for touching and picking up, such as afghans, hats and neck ties, create our special environment we refer to as the silent caregiver. Personalized memory boxes outside each apartment door also bring comfort to residents, helping them realize this is their home.

QUALITY CARE AND EXPERIENCE

But we all know the environment alone isn't enough. It takes knowledgeable, caring people to be there 24 hours a day— to help prepare meals, manage medications, provide housekeeping, to hold a hand, or to simply soothe. Each care provider has been carefully selected based on experience, personality, commitment and love of caring for persons with Alzheimer's and related dementia.
